Answers:

1> Becky - The switch became the subject of jokes within Roseanne.

2> Queen Elizabeth I - Oddly, in 1998 Geoffrey Rush and Joseph Fiennes were both in Elizabeth and in Shakespeare in Love, which each had an Elizabeth in it.

3> Dog Day Afternoon - The movie falsely says he cut a deal with the FBI, which caused an obvious problem when Wojtowicz screened the film in prison.

4> Volkswagen - The slogan was named #1 on Ad Age's list of top campaigns of the 20th century.

5> The Italian Job - The cars race along stairs and rooftops.

6> Steven Hill - He was replaced as Daniel Briggs by Peter Graves as James Phelps.

7> Germaine Greer - She apparently had not seen the show, since she walked off it and called it a 'fascist prison camp'.

8> Malcolm in the Middle - They also did theme songs for The Oblongs, The Drinky Crow Show, Mickey Mouse Clubhouse and Higglytown Heroes, not to mention The Daily Show.

9> A Room With a View - It was shot, in part, in Florence.

10> Jessica Alba - The James Cameron series was about a fugitive who was also a genetically engineered government agent. It was canceled after two seasons.

11> The Great Dictator - He meets Benzino Napaloni, the dictator of Bacteria, to discuss Hynkel's plans to invade Osterlich.

12> Mark Wahlberg - Showrunner Doug Ellin is also considered a creator and some say the real inspiration was Ellin and the circle around Friends star David Schwimmer.

13> Redd Foxx - Hence, 'Sanford and Son' ...

14> Barney Miller - Sierra played Chano Amenguale, but has also appeared in countless other TV series.

15> Hikaru - He picked up his first name, originally, in the novel The Entropy Effect.
